Desert Sunshine
The Price of Flying
Lindbergh Glides a Little
You May Hear the King
By Arthur Brisbane

HODGE, CAL., Jan. 20.—Hodge, Cal., named for Robert and Gilbert Hodge, of Buffalo, who started alfalfa ranching on the Mojave "desert," which is not a desert at all, if you dig wells near the underground Mojave river. The Santa Fe "Chief" stops obligingly to let a passenger inspect new alfalfa seedling and leave some children at a ranch where there is always sunshine.

Jeans, great British astronomer, says in his book, "The Universe Around Us," that the sun, throwing out energy, loses in actual weight two hundred and fifty million tons every minute. The sun weighs now one thousand million tons less than that weighed four months ago. That is hard to believe. But when you come into this sunshine you realize what radiation of energy the sun must send through infinite space to produce such results on our little earth. It is SOLID sunshine. Gases cannot live on it.

The distressing accident to a Madrid airplane returning from the Mexican border races at Agua Caliente is part of the price of progress. It seems one of the first improvements should be a plane making fire due to collision impossible.

Engineering science will produce such a plane.

When railroading started in France, and an accident between Paris and Versailles killed many, it was thought that Frenchmen would ride no more. A troupe of actors, hired, sat in traffic at the windows smiling, pretending to like it. Railroading was not abandoned. Flying will increase every year, and become safer than rail or motor travel.

At San Diego, Lindbergh borrowed a "glider" airplane with no engine. He asked a few questions, went up alone, flew for half an hour, 100 feet up, came down and applied for a first-class glider pilot license. He got it. There is only one Lindbergh, but there are a million young Americans like him. They will keep aviation young.

Prosperity depends not on what you put away, but on what you spend. Spending to prosperity what irrigation is to agriculture, and this is a spending nation—1930 will establish some records.

Public works scheduled by state and federal governments in labor and raw materials will amount to three billions, two hundred and twenty-five millions of dollars. California is proud to stand third in the nation, her public works for 1930 reaching two hundred and two million dollars.

New York State, with more than twice California's population, leads with four hundred and seventy-five millions. Ohio is second with two hundred and thirty-three millions. This includes only public works, no private buildings. That, also, will break records.

If willing to sit up late, you may hear King George on the radio, reciting a speech of welcome to the naval detachment prepared for him by Premier Ramsay MacDonald. New York will hear the speech at 8:40 a. m., the town will hear at 8:40 a. m., tomorrow.

This is a century of surprises. England in Queen Victoria's time could not have imagined a British workman, made prime minister, writing the king's speech and with others promoted from the ranks of labor administering the British Empire.

Consider also that the listener, in Seattle, will hear the king's words before they are heard in the back of the hall in which he speaks.

Talk on the radio travels 80,000 miles, three and a half times around the world in one second. Sound through the air travels slowly.

Lloyd George thinks the brotherly love saved reduction in a row. MacDonald talked to President Hoover before the meeting in London. France, according to Lloyd George, sees in that conversation an attempt on the part of Britain and America to dislocate the rest of the world. Secretary Stimson is believed to have smoothed that over.

Britain and America do not want war. Germany has had enough of it. Russia is trying experiments that, if history follows its usual course, will end in a military dictatorship by a Czarist or a Czarist-Napoleon. Western nations should be ready to take care of that, if it becomes a menace. Air fleets and submarines would do.

SCORES WALK BOULSTON ST. 'L' CRASH

Inbound Trailer Jumps Rails; Hits Bus at Arlington St.; Traffic in Hour Tieup

Sixty passengers were shaken up today when the trailer of a two-car Elevated trolley train split a switch at the Arlington st. entrance of the subway, jumped the passenger island, moved down a trolley pole and struck an Elevated bus.

Both inbound and outbound tracks were blocked for nearly an hour. Hundreds of commuters finished their journey downtown on foot.

Weekend crews labored until nearly 3:30 o'clock before the trailer was placed back on the rails and a temporary pole erected.

The two-car train was operated by Motorman John M. Grant of Bartlett st. Jamaica Plain, also of Jamaica Plain, in charge.

The train was heading for the subway incline when the rear truck of the trailer split the switch.

As a Bowdoin sq. bus was just moving away after a stop, the impact was slight and it skidded only a few feet.

Trolley cars were diverted by the way of Berkeley and Tremont st. to the subway.

Inbound automobile traffic was detoured through Arlington st.

Mrs. Church Totes a Gun

She Explains 'I Wished to Carry a Gun for My Protection'

Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church, Newport society woman, has renewed her Rhode Island permit to carry a gun for her protection.

She explained, "I wished to carry a gun for my protection. I am a widow and I have a young son. I feel that I should be able to protect myself and my child in case of an emergency."

The daughter of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt of New York, and former wife of Freddie Church, Boston clubman and former Harvard star, denied she had been threatened.

"I have carried a pistol before," she explained. "I merely wished to renew the permit. There is no reason for it except protection when I am alone coming home."

Mrs. Church, with laughter in her voice, added:

"Goodness, I never heard of such."

Wise Men Get Drunk, Dullards Don't, Says Church Moderator

Chicago, Jan. 21.—It's the wise men who get drunk—the dullards don't, according to Fred H. Church, moderator of the Congressional Church of America.

He said:

"The men who get drunk have brains and use them. The men who do not drink have no brains and use them."

The aged woman took three fronted seats to bed with her last night for warmth. The mattress was badly crumpled.

EMPLOYMENT IN U. S. GAINING, SAYS HOOVER

Tide Turned for the Better for First Time Since Stock Crash

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—President Hoover said today that the Department of Labor had reported for the first time since the stock market crash that the tide of employment had changed in the right direction.

The chief executive said reports for the last week showed that employment was on the increase and substantially so.

"There has been a distinct increase in employment all over the country within the last few days," he said.

Immediately after the stock market disturbance in November President Hoover moved to stimulate the building of public works in an effort to prevent unemployment.

"Today it was felt in administration circles that the President's program to increase the development of public works in both the federal and state governments was bearing fruit."

The Labor Department has been keeping in very close touch with the employment situation.

"The report of the department was an enforcement sponsored by Secretary Davis at today's cabinet meeting."

Show Fake Liquors, Fixing Apparatus

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—Samples of illicit liquor and apparatus used in concealing it, went on display today in an exhibit to promote law enforcement sponsored by the New York women's committee for law enforcement.

The beverages ranged from Scotch whiskey, containing from 10 to 20 per cent of alcohol, to water and rum.

Included in the apparatus section of the exhibit was an electrically heated, portable red, which, together with oil of wood flavor, was used to give fake whiskey the taste of being aged in wood.

It was stated that all foreign Communists involved in the affair will be deported.

Hoover Should Be Frank With People on His League Court Views

(Letter in Review of New York American, dated New York, January 19, 1930)

Dar Sir: You say the real name of the international court is "Permanent Court of Justice of the League of Nations."

You claim that the Washington administration is deliberately concealing the connection of the Court and the League. Upon what do you base your charge?

(Signed) F. J. LAVINSKY.

The official name of this court is not determined by what we say, or what representatives of the Washington administration say, or what anybody else says.

Its name is determined by the wording of the document signed at Geneva in the quarters of the League of Nations by Mr. Moffat, United States charge d'affaires in Switzerland, representing President Hoover.

What did he sign?

Is it the name of the United States to a "protocol" or a "convention" signed by fifty-four members of the League of Nations?

Is it the name of the League of Nations through the undersigned, duly authorized, declare their adherence to the permanent court of international justice which was approved by unanimous vote of the assembly of the league on the fifteenth of December, nineteen twenty, at Geneva.

Who can join the court? According to text, "The members of the League of Nations."

What is the name of the court ACCORDING TO THE TEXT?

It is not called the "World Court." It is not called simply "Permanent Court of International Justice." It is called OFFICIALLY "The Permanent Court of International Justice which was approved by the assembly of the League of Nations on December 15, 1920, at Geneva."

As every student knows, the assembly of the league on that date approved the court's statute as drawn up by a body of jurists appointed by the league. Ever since the court was thus put into operation by the League of Nations, the league has elected and paid the court judges, paid for the court quarters and other expenses and has periodically revised the court's statute.

So in FACT and in the TEXT of the document President Hoover's representative signed, this is "The Permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations."

The connection and the identity of the court and the league are facts that President Hoover should frankly disclose in telling the people about this tribunal he wants the country to join.

BIG 5 ENVOYS OPEN PARLEY AS WORLD TUNES IN

MacDonald Warns Against Armament Race; Stimson Takes Sanguine View

London, Jan. 21.—In the glittering golden-hued royal gallery of the House of Lords, which through the years has seen history-making of a far different sort, five powers today inaugurated the most ambitious attempt to limit armaments since the world has seen since the historic Washington conference.

George V., King of Great Britain, formally opened the conference with a six-minute speech broadcast over a world-wide radio hookup.

He pledged Great Britain's cooperation in the conference effort to limit armaments, and expressed a hope that an agreement would be reached which would prepare the way for a general disarmament treaty.

It was the King's first public appearance since his illness of last year. His face was rosy, his spirit firm, his voice rich and full of confidence—loud enough to carry even to the corridors outside the gallery.

At the House of Lords, where the delegates and a few invited guests convened.

Immediately after his address was concluded the conference was organized formally with nomination of Ramsay MacDonald, Premier of Great Britain, an chairman by Col. Henry L. Stimson, American Secretary of State and delegation head.

ALL PARLEY CHIEFS TALK

Today's opening was in starkly direct contrast to Washington, where the then Secretary of State, Charles Evans Hughes, electrified the world with his sharp admonition to the powers to "reduce their navies or be outbuilt by the United States."

There was no such paremptory beginning today—instead, King George's address was a hospitable greeting which was followed by the heads of each government professing their loyalty to the cause of disarmament, but significantly calling attention to the practical difficulties.

There was another. Prime Minister MacDonald, Secretary of State Stimson, French Premier Raymond Duno Grandi and Benito Mussolini, all of whom were present, pledged their utmost efforts for success and pleaded for good will and confidence among the delegates.

And all remained their colleagues.

It was a beautiful and inspiring spectacle. Behind the horseshoe table where the delegates sat was an enormous fresco depicting the signing of the Versailles Peace Treaty, and, facing this a companion fresco depicting the signing of the Washington Naval Treaty.

Butcher after Waterloo—a warlike setting for such a tremendous undertaking as the debate of peace.

After the speeches the conference adjourned to the House of Commons Thursday at 10 o'clock a. m.

Premier MacDonald made it clear in adjournment of Thursday that he would be "in committee" as that is in private.

WORLD HEARS

Nearly eight hundred persons filled the gallery. Of these thirty were the principal delegates and scores of technical advisers, 300 newspaper correspondents, many British officials and others, but out beyond that of the House of Commons in through the greatest

SERUM KILLS CANCER TISSUE IN EVERY TYPE OF GROWTH

DISCOVERY GREATEST VICTORY

California Doctors Claim No
Cure, but Have Not Yet
Failed of Results

By GORIN REHARIL.
San Francisco, Jan. 21.—What appears to be one of the most important steps in the fight against cancer has been taken in this city by two eminent surgeons, working at the Southern Pacific General Hospital.

Doctors Walter Bernard Coffey and John D. Humber have discovered a serum that kills the malignant tissues. They call it technically "The Cancer-Killing Serum."

The treatment consists of injections in the patient's body of a serum extract. This serum is made from a certain gland known as the suprarenal. The glands are obtained from sheep.

While these scientists and surgeons have been working upon their serum treatment for the last three years, they had maintained the most scrupulous silence about their activities. At last their secret was divulged, when they most reluctantly prevailed upon to make a preliminary report before the Society of Pathologists here, at a recent meeting.

The result was sensational. Some of the foremost scientific authorities pronounced the discovery work as, perhaps, the most important in the field of medical science in ages.

VALUE PROVED

Dr. John Galloway, who attended the meeting of pathologists made the following declaration:

"It is impossible to hail it as a cure at this stage, but it is unquestionable that it is a most valuable advance made in the field of cancer research."

Dr. Karl Meyer, director of the Hooper Foundation of the University of California, makes the following statement:

"I consider Doctors Coffey and Humber's discovery of the utmost possible importance. It is the most valuable advance made in the field of cancer research."

Dr. J. C. Geiger, immunologist and professor at the Hooper Foundation, also says that the discovery of the Coffey and Humber work is of the most extraordinary interest and importance.

KNIFE REMAINS

Since neither Doctors Coffey and Humber nor Professor Geiger intend that the new serum should take the place of surgery or X-rays and radio treatments, the Coffey-Humber discovery must be proved the most vital supplementary method in attacking cancer.

The San Francisco Examiner has published in its issue of December 4, 1927, the first full and authentic account of Doctors Coffey and Humber's surgical treatment for cancer.

The present cancer treatment is an evolutionary one, the result of angina virus.

Dr. Coffey is the chief surgeon of the Southern Pacific General Hospital, and Dr. Humber is his colleague at the same institution. Scientifically and professionally they enjoy the highest reputation and respect.

The Examiner publishes the first revelation of their anti-cancer serum in a purely scientific spirit, and without any intention to arouse premature and unwarranted hopes among laymen.

What is the nature of this serum? How does it act?

To this question doctors Coffey and Humber replied: "You may call it the cancer-killing serum."

"It is a potent extract from a special portion of the cortical region of the suprarenal or adrenal gland."

"When injected into the human body, the serum is powerful enough to destroy the tissues of the malignant areas."

Must the serum be injected into the malignant area itself? Does it injure normal tissue? Does it produce any local or constitutional bad reactions?

Doctors Coffey and Humber answered each query:

1. Can serum be injected into the patient's body far remote from the malignant area, the cancer itself?

2. It produces no local reaction. There is no irritation or swelling where the serum is introduced. Neither is there any general constitutional disturbance; no bad after effects whatever.

3. The serum kills only the malignant tissues. There is no danger of destruction whatever of the normal body cells. In this respect the serum challenges comparison with the use of strong X-rays or radium rays that are apt to burn normal tissues, too.

TISSUE EXCRETED

"The only discomfort that a patient sometimes feels is when the cancer tissue dies and sloughs off. A sort of itching is felt by some patients. But between these intervals of sloughing of the tissue, the patient feels no discomfort at all."

Two students' clubs at Harvard today joined forces in defense of the 20 scrubwomen recently discharged by the university.

Officers of the Harvard Liberal Club met this afternoon and supported the action of the Harvard Socialist Club in preparing for distribution a pamphlet entitled, "The Story of Twenty Scrubwomen."

At the same time the college authorities warned that distribution of the pamphlet would not be permitted in the great campus dormitories or on any other college property. Summary action will be taken against any person caught violating this ruling.

Charles A. Lord, superintendent of maintenance at Harvard, said that he had seen none of the pamphlets but had put in appearance.

FUSS ABOUT NOTHING
"We will stop its distribution on any property of the university," he declared. "The whole thing is a fuss about nothing and should never have been given the publicity it has."

Lawrence H. Cohen, Jr., president of Harvard Socialist Club, declared that the scrubwomen story distribution of the leaflets, he and his fellow club members will send them through the mails.

One of the officers left the meeting to answer the call and admit the club was taking action on behalf of the discharged scrubwomen.

"Is your club in sympathy with the action of the Harvard Socialist Club?" he was asked.

CAUSTIC LETTER SENT
Well, the president of that club is also a member of this," was the reply. "We have sent a caustic communication to the controller about this affair."

"Was any notice taken of your communication?" he was further asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "You see, we've only just sent it."

"Are you demanding that the discharged women be reinstated?" "That all depends. So far we have only demanded to the committee the attitude of Harvard authorities toward contract labor."

After stating that the president of the Harvard Liberal Club had written a letter to Alexander Langmuir, a junior, the officer returned to his meeting with the scrubwomen.

NO PAMPHLETS SEEN
Inquiries at news vending stands in the Harvard area didn't bring the answer that none of the denunciatory pamphlets had yet been left for distribution. Officials of the Crimson also stated that no copy had reached them.

It appears that a nearly availed by students who are interested in the front-page cartoon which it is said the leaflet carries. The cartoon is alleged to be a caricature of President Lowell in a house of cards, attempting a few coins to a scrubwoman.

It was generally conceded today in college circles that the authorities will take stern measures to suppress the pamphlet should it be circulated.

FIGHT ON SCOTIA FISH TAX

Malibu, N. B., Jan. 21 (AP)—A fight on federal revenue which started last October under which a tax will be levied on fish leaders in the waters of the Nova Scotia Fish Development Association, which has been formed here with A. J. Whitman as president.

Upbuilding of the fresh fish industry, says regulations concerning the conduct of the fisheries and repeal of any laws which would restrict their natural and economic development are aims mentioned in the association's bylaws.

The one thing that stands in the way of security for Nova Scotia is a large part of the United States fish trade, now going to New England, in the levy of a tax on trawler fish, G. P. Pearson today said in the association. Pointing out that 80 per cent of the Nova Scotia fishing ground used to be fished more cheaply out of Halifax than out of Boston, Pearson said the tax which goes into effect April 1 would have the effect of doubling the United States duty.

Orders for cod steak and had-dock fillets amounting to $2,350,000 have been received from the United States by Halifax firms.

The duty on these orders would amount to $302,000 and the tax would add an additional $500,000. "If we allow the duty on United States capital they will fish our own banks out of Boston with bigger trawlers," said Pearson.

A statement was read from Ralph F. Bell, president of the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association, who reiterated his stand for trawler curtailment.

Flapper of 61 Nearly Wins Beauty Prize

Plymouth, N. H., Jan. 21.—A 61-year-old bobbed-haired "girl" came within an ace of being crowned "Miss Plymouth" at the winter carnival conducted here. In the popularity contest she polled 58,000 votes, the winner got 58,000 votes.

Declaring that she "would show the flappers in this town how to dress and stop," Miss Sylvia Bodine, a Burnham put up a great fight for the title and was one of the first to congratulate the 15-year-old winner.

The contest was won by Miss Barbara C. King, who was awarded a coveted loving cup as "Miss Plymouth." Elizabeth Tobey, 15-year-old daughter of Fred C. Tobey, wealthy and widely known horse racing enthusiast in New England, finished second.

When the votes were counted the slender 110-pound spinner who is over 61 years finished third in a field of nine.

"Isn't it silly to talk about ages?" declared Miss Burnham. "Why, I own up the fact I'm over 60 and white-haired, but what of that? It's a great age to live in and I'm looking silly to be here. I just had my hair shampooed and waved, and fixed up my party dress. I thought I'd show the flappers in this town something."

"Mean—why they're just grown up boys, and how they love to play. Really, there's no harm in them. I've lived just long enough to know they're just right, provided you pick the right one."

"And this talk about the younger generation—this flapping and talking—is mostly talk. You hear people say the young people of today are more immoral than those of a generation or two ago."

WILL ARRAIGN SIX IN SLAYING OF POLICEMAN

Hartford, Ct., Jan. 21 (INB)—The grand jury, now sitting in the Hartford jail investigation, today was expected to receive advice from the first degree murder charge against John Brophy, 16-year-old Waterbury gunner, and at least one of five other youths under arrest with him.

The six were arrested in Waterbury and New Britain, following the fatal shooting of Policeman James McNamee, of Bristol, at Forestville, last Wednesday night.

Brophy and the other five, the oldest 22 years, are held in jail in heavy bonds. They face arraignment on Thursday.

State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn will request bench warrants of Judge Newell Jennings, now presiding over the continued December term of the criminal court.

Alcorn said that probably the case would not come up before the March term. He said the bench warrants were to be requested to insure prompt action by the grand jury and prepare the case for early trial.

Pajamas in Style All Through the Day

Chicago, Jan. 21 (AP)—The quaint old notion that pajamas were meant for night time met with a rebuff today as the Associated Apparel Manufacturers spoke the dictum that post-sunlight hours are the only time they're taboo—except for bed.

"The correctly attired young woman this spring will wear a pajama suit for breakfast wear, another for afternoon wear, and a third for evening wear—except in bed."

Then added: "However, the pajama is out of place for evening wear—except in bed."

It was prophesied by T. W. Papler of Los Angeles, secretary.

"When on the Pacific coast have found that pajamas are far more comfortable and far easier to change than the old-fashioned dress, they have even been wearing them to dance."

Holding the Bag

... or a baggy suit.

Usually, the suit club lottery scheme calls for the payment of $2 a week for 24 weeks with the "chance" of getting a suit "free" after a few weekly payments.

Generally, no suits are given away. Those delivered after payment of $48 are often worth less than half this price. Club members who do not complete payments lose whatever they have paid in. Many times suit club lottery operators skip town with partial payments in their pockets. They are likely to leave you "holding the bag."

Pleads for Hungry Pigeons on Common

Editor Boston American:

I hope that I am not trespassing upon your column in calling attention to the pigeons on Boston Common. They are very hungry. They are flocking outside the windows in the Tremont Building and other adjoining buildings. Officials at Tremont Building are engaged in feeding the birds. Crumbs from left over luncheons are scattered here and there. One pigeon had its lower bill knocked off, so that it could not eat anything and was destined to starve. A woman typist took the bird and had it treated, so that its bill could be adjusted to eating. The pigeon was grateful for this kindness and used to come daily at the window of this typewriter and express its thanks to a pigeon's way by perching on the shoulder and harmoniously pecking at a ribbon the young woman had adorning her hair. Feed the pigeons more.

Likens India's Aims to Those of U. S.

Editor Boston American:

These words from the first inaugural address of Abraham Lincoln do not take in India. "Whenever people shall grow weary of existing government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it or their revolutionary right to overthrow it." For publishing and circulating these words, an Indian agitator was fined about $1000 in our money. India wants freedom just as America wanted it before 1776. Their agitators will suffer just as our Colonial fathers suffered. History repeats itself.

Cardinal's Stand on Prohibition Lauded

Editor Boston American:

Cardinal O'Connell wisely said that most of us have long known—that you cannot legislate pseudo-morality into the human race against its will. "True, the Volstead act is LAW; but we are neither Medes nor Persians and OUR laws are supposed to be by, for and of the people, not of and by the fanatical element (always a making minority in any age), to be obeyed by the majority against whose will they are." This country has suffered from the Prohibition Laws in the great overreaching of court dockets—the diversion of policemen from ordinary police duty to that of trying to deprive American citizens of these rights which were exercised by Washington, Lincoln and nearly all of the Great American Citizens of the pre-fanatic days. Crimes of violence increase daily—and how can one with sense hope otherwise when the protective power of the police is rent asunder, when sanctity of just laws is brought into deep contempt by the effort to enforce laws which the majority of the people with that common sense that Lincoln wisely trusted in, condemn as sumptuary and most unjust. For you cannot enforce a law that is unjust without bringing the whole court juris into contempt, nor indeed can you successfully enforce an unjust law unless you have a monarchy, which is the aim of the fanatics who cry for "law enforcement," no matter how many other laws guaranteeing personal rights are broken.

As the American has shown, the Prohibition enforcement HAS cost human lives in excess—NOT ONE DEATH PENALTY being legitimately judicable for Prohibition violations.

If a man kills another man, if a dozen people lose their lives by some accident, there is feeling of horror as we read it, but what shall we say of a system that not only makes nothing of enough to populate several country towns being taken, and insists that it shall go on in the of morality, even though death is not the penalty for dry-law violations?

What shall we say of the Christ these "Christians" must have in mind? A Christ that cares not that thousands may be slain to enforce a law that He would have condemned since He was not a "totalitarian".

I'm personally not a homebound, but believe initiative—and certainly do not believe Americans a race of fools.

A Few Questions for Prohibitionists to Ponder

Editor Boston American:

Is it possible that our congressmen can't see the unenforceable prohibition law because the great majority of the people are against it?

Is it possible to change the thousand years of human habit with a law?

Is it possible to enforce "prohibition" upon the people by killing thousands of persons?

Is it possible to believe that after 16 years of existence in our conditions existing today are better than those before the "prohibition"?

Is it possible that sincere "dry" men are willing to impose at any cost to his fellow men his "mode of life"?

Is it possible to consider criminal a person who drinks a glass of wine or beer?

Is it possible to build more prisons for the increasing number of "criminals" who disobey the prohibition law. How big should these prisons be if 10,000,000 people of the United States are criminals?

Is it possible that the main object today in our Congress is prohibition enforcement as the appropriation of more money for the prohibition of an army to enforce an unenforceable law?

Is it possible to believe that the "Land of Liberty" exists in a law compared only to the Spanish Inquisition?

Let some of the prohibition leaders answer these questions.

Want of Ex-Service Men

Editor Boston American:

Here is the opinion of one ex-soldier: "The idea of spending even $20,000, to say nothing of $1,000,000, for a monument to the ex-service men is a crime. This when there are so many ex-soldier men out of luck. I suppose some would like to get their mills on that money. If the powers that be can't think of a better way to spend money than for a pile of cold stone they had better step out on the street and ask a few people their ideas."

"WISEST MAN" STEPS OUT

George C. McKinnon, man about town and editor of the Daily Record Wisdom Box, is branching out into a new field. George is presenting his own all girl revue this week and next at The Silver Slipper night club.

The World's Wisest Man (as George is more or less erroneously known) will appear in his customary manner, which, according to experts, is a manner above reproach.

Appearing in the revue are the May Sisters, two very charming English girls and the Rutina Anderson girls. The shows are at 8 and 12 p. m. every evening except Sunday.

In the past few years George has appeared at some of Boston's most popular playhouses, both in the role of humorist and master of ceremonies.

Recently he surprised several of his friends by bursting into song, and making quite a hit as a "club-baiter." He also plays the piano.

A car needs a home. Have you a garage for rent? You should see our building on the West End Ave. That's the way to get it.

Wickersham Dry Plan Put Into 3 Bills

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—After Chairman Wickersham of the Law Enforcement Commission had appeared before a House judiciary sub-committee decided to draft three bills to carry out the commission's recommendations to increase the power of United States commissioners to handle misdemeanor cases in an effort to relieve congestion in federal courts.

Dean Roscoe Pond, a member of the commission, also appeared for questioning.

Representative Christopherson

(R), South Dakota, said Wickersham and Powell had cleared up doubts of the sub-committee as to the constitutionality of the proposed procedure.

Christopherson said one of the bills would outline the procedure of handling minor cases in that two amendments probably would be incorporated into one bill. If the bills were passed there would be two instead of three measures.

One of the amendments would define slight or casual offenses. The other would amend the Jones-Dicklaw law to provide for penalties for misdemeanors of not more than six months in jail and a fine of $500.

Chairman Wickersham said that he and Dean Pound had "gone over the whole subject relative to increasing the powers of the commissioners."

"We discussed fully the differences between the slight or casual offenses and the right to trial by jury," he said. "The commissioners are to have jurisdiction in cases wherein there is no right to trial by jury."

Christopherson said hearings probably would be held Friday on the measure, because there were several groups which desired to appear against the proposals.

HALL-MILLS SUIT SETTLED

Newark, N. J., Jan. 21 (INS)—An echo of the celebrated Hall-Mills case came today when the $25,000 suit of Aaron M. Blattman, New York city fingerprint expert against Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willis Stevens, was settled for $750.

Blattman claimed he had a contract calling for his services as a defense fingerprint expert in the investigation following the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, New Brunswick, N. J., in 1922.

He contended the defense agreed to pay him $20,000 and in addition he sought $20,000 damages, alleging that he had been offered a contract by a New York newspaper syndicate for exclusive rights to his writings, which were contained upon his appearing at the trial.

Blattman was not called and claimed he lost the contract on that account.

Canobie Lake Deer Fights His Rescuers

Salmon, N. H., Jan. 21 (AP)—A game warden and a deputy sheriff who essayed to save from destruction the last of a herd of deer in Canobie Lake Park succeeded in doing so but found themselves somewhat the worse for wear today as a result.

Tilden H. Barnard, the warden and Norman Howe, of Hollis, the sheriff went into the park armed with a rope which they converted into a lariat on sight of the object of their quest, a big buck.

The animal, whose three companions in the park grove have recently been slain by dogs, is so tame that he has frequently allowed children to feed him in the streets of this village, but the sight of the men with their ropes was enough to startle him.

Premier Says Race to Build Armament Must Cease In Cause of Peace

world-wide radio hook-up ever attempted.

Far away New London heard as well as the nearby conferees at home to the conference. Premier MacDonald outlined the aims of the pact immediately following King George's speech of welcome, stressing the most vital necessity of success. Unless naval competition stopped, he feared that the whole world was travelling the same road which led to 1914.

With this he made a special plea for special consideration of British position as an island empire, more dependent upon sea-power than any other.

Premier MacDonald, who took over the chairmanship of the special conference as soon as King George had concluded his brief speech of welcome, began his address with a note of stern warning that naval competition over the powers of the world was already under way, and that if it was not put to it immediately the events which led to the outbreak of the World War would see themselves duplicated again.

WORLD END WAR RACE

He urged that the delegates reach an agreement that could form the basis for a general disarmament conference at a later date and called upon the nations of the world to respect their pledges under the Kellogg pact.

"This agreement," he said with emphasis, "must put a stop to the arms race which has already begun to show itself both in type and number of ships."

If we are not careful, we shall once more be involved in feverish competition such as heralded the outbreak of the war in 1914."

Each of the other chief delegates then spoke in turn, setting forth his nation's views on the subject of disarmament and pledging themselves to exert their powers to the fullest to preserve peace in the world by limiting the size of armed forces of the world.

King George had sounded the keynote of international accord and wished the delegates Godspeed in their work.

Secretary Stimson followed him, his address requiring less than five minutes. The crowd gathered outside the hall complete attention.

PARLEY ONLY PAVED WAY

Secretary Stimson said in clear strong voice, however, that the high hopes which the conference would result in a complete success. He stressed the fact, however, that this could be considered at best only a temporary achievement which must be reviewed from time to time in order that the changing political complexion of the world could be put to use to strengthen and amplify whatever peace-making agreements evolved from the present parley.

"I feel it is important to emphasize the fact that we must not look upon this effort toward disarmament as final," Secretary Stimson declared.

Naval limitation is a continuous process. We regard disarmament as a goal to be reached by steps, by frequent revision and improvement. Human affairs are not static, but are moving and we believe improving. A solution reached today, however, perfect, may not respond to conditions at a later date."

Premier Tardieu of France also expressed high hopes that the conference would result in success, but laid particular emphasis on the fact that whatever agreement is reached must be subservient to further action by the League of Nations.

ITALY WANTS PEACE

He urged that the delegates not be bound by mathematical formulas, stating that no mere formula can "reat the present of life."

Grandi, who spoke on behalf of Italy, called the attention of the delegates to the peace program of Premier Benito Mussolini, and declared that a long period of peace throughout the world is necessary for the fulfillment of his program.

Col. Ralston, for Canada, spoke without a manuscript. With hands at his sides he made his point by turning from side to side and speaking to individuals around the table. Each of the British delegates added its voice to the general chorus of conciliation, the first of the representatives being J. E. Fenton of Australia.

The Indian delegate, Chatterjee, said he spoke for a peace-loving country. His speech was brief, in English, and almost without comment.

The Irish Free State delegate, Smiddy, followed.

Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese delegation, followed, and was the last of the major naval power delegates to speak.

DELEGATES ARE RANGINE

From all indications it appeared the plenary session would not conclude today's activities. It was understood the Japanese delegation had been asked by Premier MacDonald to visit Downing at later date.

Talks to World

King George of Great Britain, who spoke to the people of all nations when the naval conference opened today.

In the day, indicating that the free conference negotiations were continuing.

The Italian and Japanese delegates, upon leaving the royal gallery, expressed great satisfaction.

"If all the good intentions expressed today are materialized, the world will at last approach the millennium," was Signor Grandi's comment.

Former Premier Wakatsuki of Japan said, "The conference could not have been launched in a more encouraging manner. I wish to reiterate that Japan desires the substantial decrease in naval armaments not only from the standpoint of economics but because of the furtherance of world-wide peace preservation."

In comment after the meeting, the French delegates expressed the feeling that a hopeful start was made today because of the good will manifested in all the addresses.

Grandi Sees Failure in "Half Measures"

London, Jan. 27 (AP)—Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, in his address at the opening of the five-power naval conference today, expressed hope that a solution would be found for the difficult facing world naval disarmament.

"We have become convinced, however," he said, "that the problem is one calling for difficult action, for in the field of disarmament there's much truth in the saying that half measures are always failures."

"The head of the Italian government, Signor Mussolini, has laid down a vast program of work for the progress of our country which requires a long period of peace for its execution and, without the major resources and best energies of the Italian people are devoted, Italy desires nothing better than to carry out this program of peaceful Europe and a peaceful world."

American Delegation Under Three Handicaps

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR. Copyright, 1936, by Universal Service, Inc.

London, Jan. 27.—The American delegation entered the London naval conference today under three handicaps, for none of which the delegates themselves are responsible. These handicaps, of which the third is the heaviest, are:

The suspicion directed in France, Italy and Japan by Prime Minister MacDonald's visit to the United States and his confidential conversations with President Hoover at Washington and the Rapidan camp.

The erroneous impression given by British and European peoples of American military and naval strength by the protest in President Hoover's first annual address to Congress concerning the costs of American defense forces and fleet.

The apparent attempt in the last few days of certain League of Nations influences in the United States to drive a wedge between the American delegation in London and President Hoover in Washington.

Of the first of the handicaps it may be said that the three non-English speaking powers jump to the conclusion that such Anglo-American confidential conversations as those of the President and Prime Minister might be for the purpose of effecting an Anglo-American entente for dominating the world by the power of their combined fleets.

Dawes Late, but It Was Faulty Fog

London, Jan. 27 (AP)—Ambassador Dawes, one of the seven American naval delegates, did not hear King George's address today.

The American ambassador was delayed by the dense fog which reigned over London, and did not arrive at Westminster palace until after His Majesty's speech had been delivered and broadcast into French, and the monarch himself had departed.

Mr. Dawes started from the embassy home at Prince's Gate a full three-quarters of an hour before the beginning of the session.

Australia Adds Its Voice to Prayer for World Peace

London, Jan. 27 (AP)—Australia's heralding speech in line with the aims of those responsible for calling this conference through the mouth of J. E. Fenton, commonwealth minister of trade and customs and delegate to the five-power conference.

From Australia to London, and indeed from several other international countries to London, is a long distance to come. But we hold that no sacrifice is too great that is directed toward the object of international peace," he said.

"I hope to the fullest that they made a full and well-considered decision."

STIMSON URGES LAND AND AIR PARLEY NEXT

London, Jan. 21 (INS)—A broad platform that success of the London naval arms conference will be followed by an American move for either international gatherings looking to world reduction of land and air forces was contained in the speech of Secretary of State Henry Stimson, chief of the opening session of the five-power parley on limiting sea strength.

Prefacing his address with gestures of courtesy to King George, who formally opened the conference, and to the leaders of the British, French, Japanese and Italian delegations, Stimson significantly stated:

"While the greatest contribution any country can make to the general cause of disarmament is in naval matters, still it must not be forgotten our ultimate aim is a universal solution of the disarmament problem, and a consequent lessening of the risks of war."

MOVE TOWARD PEACE
"For that reason, however great the achievements of this conference in regard to the naval problem, our task in the general cause of disarmament and our efforts to contribute to the success of future endeavors in other fields will continue unabated."

"We are convinced that in attacking now the naval problem we are following the practical and common sense path."

"We believe that any solution which we can make of this problem will be a tangible contribution to the success of the wider problem of general disarmament. There is a relationship between the land, sea and air forces which constitute national defense. We believe that limitation of any one of these will contribute to an enlightened limitation of the others."

URGENT NOT FINAL
Stimson stressed the idea that, high as American hopes for the success of the London conference are, the United States will not look upon any agreement there reached as final.

"I feel it is important to emphasize the fact that we do not look upon this effort toward disarmament as final," he said. "We regard disarmament as a goal to be reached by successive steps, by frequent revision and improvement."

Hoover Listens in at 5 A. M. to the Naval Parley

Washington, Jan. 21 (INS)—President Hoover and most members of his Cabinet were up at 5 a. m. today "listening in" on the opening of the London naval parley. Most of the official Washington, as well as the public, tuned in.

Exception was exceptionally clear.

Human affairs are not static, but are moving and we believe improving.

"A solution reached today, however perfect, may not respond to conditions at a later date. We sincerely hope that increased feeling of security may enable still more drastic reduction in the future. For that reason, we feel the sound and obvious course is to reach such agreements as it may be possible now, with the knowledge that they are open to revision at appropriate periods."

"We have endeavored to study the particular problems and difficulties of the other nations as well as our own. We have come here to try to find a solution acceptable to all, of benefit to all, and of benefit to the peace and stability of the world."

"There are many problems we know, but each problem before us is not so far outweighed by the opportunity to serve civilization. We are ready to stay here until the problems are solved, until the opportunities are grasped and until we can give to the world an agreement that will carry us happily on in the same spirit to look over the situation anew."

LEAGUE COURT IS ASSAILED BY MRS. M'CORMICK

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 21—Ruth Hanna McCormick, Congressman-at-large from Illinois, today assailed the league court "because it is a part of the League of Nations," and urged that "we become no party to the military and political entanglements of Europe."

Mrs. McCormick opened the second week of her campaign for nomination for United States Senator with addresses at Winchester, Pittsfield and this city.

She placed herself on record as in favor of doing anything possible to advance the cause of international peace, but at the same time declared it necessary to maintain adequate means of defense both on land and sea.

Lyric Radio Boosters See Big Year

SALES DRIVE BY LYRIC RADIO

The 1930 sales campaign for Lyric radio receivers was launched last night at a dinner at the Hotel Statler, staged by the C. E. Bailey Co., New England distributor. More than 125 dealers from all parts of New England were in attendance.

Among the guests were Maj. James A. Garfield of New York, prominent economist and grandson of President Garfield; Eugene R. Farney, president of the All-American Mowhawk Corporation, manufacturers of Lyric radios; Worcester Bouck and L. P. Naylor, vice-president and sales manager, respectively of the Artorius Radio Tube Co.

E. A. Joyce, general manager of the C. E. Bailey Co., was master of ceremonies and read a telegram of regret from C. E. Bailey, president of the concern, who was detained in Cleveland through illness. Maj. Garfield was the principal speaker and discussed "Where is the Consumer's Dollar Coming From?"

Quoting government statistics, he declared that the average income was little affected directly by the decline in the stock market and that the nation's buying power is unimpaired. There is no cause for business pessimism on the grounds of unemployment, he said, in view of the great construction and expansion program planned throughout the country during the coming year.

Detectives' Slayers Are Near Capture

Jackville, Fla., Jan. 21.—County authorities believed they were rapidly closing in on two of the three escaped convicts from Connecticut, who last Friday night shot down two detectives in a pitched gun fight here.

The third member of the trio, Leo Landry, who was taken into custody in a downtown Los Angeles street, signed a confession, admitting that he was one of the three who shot the detectives, but denying that he fired any of the shots which resulted in the death of Detective W. D. Smith and the serious wounding of Willie Jones, another detective.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—The U. S. S. York City, first of eight 10,000-ton cruisers authorized by Congress in 1924 to be completed, is to be the maiden voyage to southern waters in command of Capt. Fred C. Dyer.

The cruiser will proceed to New York and Newport, R. I., then to Hampton Roads, Va., Guantanamo Bay, Cuba and Panama.

Army Flier, 'King of Daredevils,' Joins Private Concern

New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, best-known of army fliers and "king of the daredevils," has resigned from government service to head the aviation department of the Shell Petroleum Corporation.

It was Jimmy who made the first "outside loop" most dangerous of aerial manipulations. He was Jimmy who, while making a power dive at the Cleveland air races, found himself in the embarrassing position of riding earthward at a tremendous rate in a wingless plane. There and there he made his first parachute jump.

LAST OF CANAL LINKS URGED

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP).—A ship canal across the State of New Jersey linking New York and Philadelphia and forming an integral part of the inland waterway system along the Atlantic seaboard was urged upon the rivers and harbors board of the War Department today by members of Congress from Maine to Florida. The project would cost about $80,000,000. Plans call for a sea level crossing from Hartman Bay in Miami.

A formal report on the project would place the question before Congress.

Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuritis, neuralgia, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but they do not depress the heart.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monrovia, California of Germany.

OPENS DRIVE TO UNIONIZE SOUTH

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 21 (AP).—The campaign to unionize the South was inaugurated here when William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address called upon the workers to form themselves into substantial organizations.

Actual work of organization has been left in the hands of a committee with Birmingham as headquarters. Green said. Some 800 organizers already are in the field while others soon will be sent into the 11 states in which the campaign is to be carried on.

Referring to industrialists who frowned upon union labor, Green declared that if the workers are denied the right to organize constructively they "will be driven to the extreme of violence, as is evidenced by hate that knows no reason."

Wife, Boarder and 3 Children Gone

Frank Hart, a steamfitter of Myrtle St., Waltham, told police that city today his wife, Mary, 31, and their three children had disappeared from home at the same time as their boarder, Raymond Dolan, 25, a gas station attendant.

Hart said they left Sunday morning in his car, returning during his absence to clean the house of all valuables.

He told the police he would like to recover the children, Albert, 12; Eva, 10, and Henry, 8, adding that he would not divorce his wife.

A formal report on the project would place the question before Congress.

She charged her husband with cruelty. She is worth about $25,000,000 in her own right and asked no alimony. The only financial settlement was dividing of the furniture in their home at Par Hills, N. J.; the property was retained by Clark. They will divide the custody of two minor children.

London's Thickest Fog Greeted Naval Parley Opening

London, Jan. 21 (AP).—The thickest fog of the winter developed London today as the five-power naval limitation conference convened. Traffic in all directions was badly hampered, but the misty curtains seemed to surround Westminster palace as the conference gathered for the opening.

Most of delegates stayed in doors until time actually necessary for them to leave for Westminster. The fog filtered even into the interior of public buildings.

MASS. Girl Gains Weight Amazingly

NATURE controls all the functions of our digestive organs save one. We control that and a lot of trouble it causes.

Children suffer when they don't observe regular bowel habits. Breath becomes fetid; tongue coated; eyes dull. A host of ailments; bloatedness, nervousness, lack of appetite follow if we neglect this warning that a child's bowels need help.

In such cases, California Fig Syrup never fails to help by the prompt opening of clogged intestines. The first spoonful does that; and relieves the common symptoms of constipation. Successive doses help tone and strengthen weak stomach and bowels; improve appetite; encourage digestion and assimilation. In a few days, a child is well, happy and bright again.

The way children improve when California Fig Syrup is used is the best proof of its merit. Here's an example: Mrs. Mary Hill, 343 So. Huntington Ave., Boston, says: "Barbara was bothered with constipation and I decided to give her California Fig Syrup. It made such a difference in her that I have used it since then for every little upset. It helps her digestion; regulates her bowels; keeps her strong and energetic. I am sure it is one thing that is helping her gain weight at such a wonderful rate now."

The pure vegetable product, endorsed by doctors for 60 years, always bears the word California.

Be moderate AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Fashion revels in the soft, enchanting curves of the modern figure. Don't sacrifice that graceful contour by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When tempted to treat yourself too well, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack 'anti-fat' remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will 'Reach for a Lucky' instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Urge Women to Seek More Schools

A kindergarten in every district in the country? Reduce the number of criminal juveniles.

This is the goal of the department of education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Otto Hahn, chairman of the division of public instruction, believes that the kindergarten will eventually more than pay for itself with the enormous sums now spent on the criminal classes are reduced.

Juvenile criminals are largely the result of mismanaged childhood or neglected childhood. Being introduced into the lives of these unfortunate youngsters at an early age, she advises.

Do this, she says, and the consciousness of citizenship will form itself early in life, as will the feeling of law-abidingness.

In a brief discussion on public instruction, Mrs. Hahn discussed some statistics that in many cities of the United States one child in four repeats the first year of school work.

"Frequently even when there is no failure," she said, "the work of the first grade does not meet the need of the little child who has just left the home, whether it is the case of a pampered child who will not readily yield to salutary discipline, or of an only child who has not learned to live with other children, or a neglected child whose manners miss him."

The kindergarten in relation to the primary grades is a period of preparation. It gives training in how to work and how to play in such a way as to be of value for future progress. It tends to surround the child with those stimulating elements that will help him in a normal and happy way to make gradual gains in mental, physical and moral growth.

"It is taught to construct pretty articles, and thus create in the child an interest in the work. The child is put on his coat, to place the ball and cubes in proper receptacles, to lead in games or yield the leadership to sing and recite with confidence and alone. Unconsciously he becomes orderly, law-abiding, companionable, self-reliant—all traits promoting good citizenship. He learns to count in connection with play."

It has been said that the earliest years of life when the mind is most plastic are the ideal years for the formation of correct habits. The foundation of correct character. The various guidance of the trained kindergarten may become the prevailing influence of a life-time.

"Every clubwoman is urged, in case there is no kindergarten in the public school in her district, to petition her board of education to establish one. Where adequate public funds are lacking, the co-operation of clubs and other organizations is temporarily assisting in the means of securing the club a year sooner than would otherwise be the case."

It is most important that systematic education should commence at an early age. From an economic standpoint this is desirable in two ways: In the first place, utilizing the years between four and six, when the children's services are of no economic value to their families, is the most logical means for providing additional schooling for those of the very poor who are forced to become breadwinners at an early age.

On the other hand, the kindergarten will eventually more than pay for itself by reducing the enormous sums now spent upon criminal classes—largely the result of neglected or mismanaged childhood.

MUSIC APPEAL
In an earnest appeal to music lovers and mothers especially interested in bringing music into the lives of their children, Mrs. Amy Burns, state chairman of music for the Federation, asks Massachusetts clubwomen to take inventory of past achievements and to seek the horizon of the future.

"Not many every lover of music hushes herself with the business of music shall the goal of making America truly musical be reached," she says.

state music department, something can be found to interest each of you. For your children's sake, you may wish to be on a club committee for music in the home. Or for music in the public schools. Or can you, not help to start a chorus? Or a chamber music group? Why not institute a music scholarship or a music memory contest? Could you not help your chamber of commerce to take a more active part in musical propaganda?

So get busy, clubwomen, and spread the cheer of music throughout the state.

AMERICAN WOMAN'S CLUB
Did you know that the American Woman's Club in London makes much of the women whose husbands are attached to the United States Government service in England, and that they number among their most active members several of these women?

Mrs. Albert Halstead, wife of the American consul-general in London, is the honorary vice-president of the club and she has recently accepted the chairmanship of the maternity ward committee, which has to do with the club's activities in connection with the Washington and children's wards of the Royal Free Hospital.

Mrs. William Lee Cooper, whose husband is in the commercial attaché and Mrs. Lowell Pinkerton, whose husband is connected with the consulate, have both been very active members for some time.

Everyday problems of the everyday child which will help clubwomen to a better understanding of mental development in relation to physical and social welfare to be discussed by Dr. Douglas A. Thoms, will feature the all-day conference of the State Federation of Women scheduled for January 25 at the Hotel Brunswick.

Mrs. Charles A. Stockbridge, chairman of the department, will preside and open the session at 10:30 a. m. Greetings of the parent organization will be brought by the president, Mrs. Axel Packard, after which Robert O. Small, director of vocational education, Massachusetts

Department of Education, will discuss "Education for the Changing Needs of Society."

What Could Be Fairer?

GHOST WITNESS STILL MISSING IN DRY CASE

By WINTERG BLACK

Universal Service

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—So you are not going to produce your ghost witness after all, Sheriff Abbott.

You're going to keep him hidden, you and your assistant, D. M. Laughrey, who was working up such a little neat case against little Gus Brown and her honest young husband and her little light-headed, clever.

What's the matter with that witness anyhow—are you ashamed of him?

Is there some disgraceful record behind him?

Or is he just some coward neighbor who took this way of getting even for some little neighborhood spite?

Is there a woman behind the witness perhaps—some one who is jealous of little Gus Brown because she is a young and pretty and has two lovely children and a hard-working young husband who really loves her?

What's it all about anyhow, this whispering and conniving, this secrecy?

Why, it sounds like flimsy in the days of Tausig.

No, it's more like the days in Venice, when you could put any one you happened to dislike for any reason whatsoever to be tortured on the rack just by writing the name of the person you disliked on a piece of paper, and slipping it into the mouth of the stone lion on the Grand Canal.

You could crawl out at night like a venomous snake, one twist of the wrist in the dark—and the thing was done.

No risk, no liability—to you.

Torture, and often the cruellest kind of cruel death to your victim.

CAUSED DEATH

Is this America, in the year of our Lord 1930 or have we gone back to the dark days in Venice or to the better days in France when no human being's reputation or property or life itself was safe from venereal and cowardly attack in the dark?

Little Gus Brown did not die, but her husband did die, and there is no doubt in the world that the man who broke down the door of Art Brown's next little home in the country and frightened little Gus Brown almost to death, has had something to do indirectly but responsibility just the same, for the death of that child, and torment of the little woman, who would have been the mother of that child if she had been at home in the peace and quiet that her character and her life and her husband's honest, protection deserved.

What kind of a precedent are you setting, Judge Raup, you and your secret witness—a la your court an open tribunal, such as

Another Child Killed by Liquor Sleuths; Was With His Parents

HERE is another example of the life of an innocent person sacrificed in the name of prohibition enforcement. This victim, a mere child, received a bullet from a policeman's pistol, fired in an attempt to halt an automobile on suspicion that it might be carrying liquor.

Sheridan Bradshaw, a nine-year-old schoolboy, was killed by a shot fired by H. B. Dederich, a city policeman of Las Vegas, Nevada, June 17, 1928, when officers attempted to halt the automobile of the child's father, C. W. Bradshaw, suspected of carrying liquor, in the streets of Las Vegas. William L. Scott, county clerk of Clark County, Nevada, in reporting this case to the Washington Herald on July 23, 1928, wrote: "This child, aged nine, was riding with his father, mother and two other children, when two members of the local police force attempted to stop the car by shooting at the tires. A stray bullet entered the rear window when Dederich nearly fell out of the police car, striking the child in the head.

The district attorney entered a charge of first degree murder against the two officers. This charge was refused to involuntarily manslaughter at the preliminary hearing and both defendants were acquitted by jury trial."

Every American has a right to expect or do you intend to take immunity behind closed doors with all the curtains drawn, and even the telephone disconnected—that by no possible chance can any meddlesome outsider get even a bird's eye view of what is going on there?

Where is it all going in end, this affair of secret witnesses and secret officers of the law?

JUSTICE BIG ISSUE

When made these laws anyhow—then there something in the Constitution of the United States which insures to every American citizen a free and open trial in a free and open court?

There is something a good deal more important involved in this case than a few bottles of home brew put away for gala occasions in the kitchen cupboard of a lone, small little farmhouse way out on a country road.

There's something even more important than the lives of little Gus Brown in a fifty cent of a fifth's jail—yes, even more important than the very death of little Gus Brown's little baby.

Liberty itself, freedom—the very essence of the home, what is the phrase in the Constitution?—Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness.

In any cause in the world just enough and holy enough to justify enduring these things?

Queried ideas of justice that responsibility just the same, for when they put a boy in his teens in prison just because of what he talked that has been life of late down here in the Constitution.

caused for the care of juvenile delinquents and give it to the authorities at the county jail so that there can be no possible chance of getting a foolish boy or girl into any other institution than that poor hole

Fingerprints Bare Slayer Suspect

"John Green," arrested by Everett police Sunday following a stabbing affray, was identified by fingerprints today as George Thomas, wanted in Philadelphia for murder.

Identification was announced by Romeo Hill, State fingerprint expert. Thomas is alleged to have inflicted fatal wounds on Ramon O'Connor in Philadelphia last July.

Philadelphia police, notified of the identification, said they would begin extradition proceedings at once.

Thomas will appear in court tomorrow, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on Henry Williams.

Gannett Starts Air Cruise of 19,000 Miles

Maine, Jan. 21 (AP).—William H. Gannett, 76, retired newspaper publisher of Portland, Me., left here today aboard a Pan-American Airways plane for a 19,000-mile air cruise of South America and the Caribbean area.

Mr. Gannett insisted upon waiting until station attendants could fill a large bottle with drinking water which he carried aboard because the plane had a large supply of drinking water in cooled tanks.

"I'm not a sailor," he explained, "but I'm a lot of old-fashioned Maine."

Higgins Wins Estate of General Booth

London, Jan. 21 (AP).—Executors of the late Gen. Bramwell Booth, former Salvation Army head, were ordered today by the Chancery Court to turn over to Gen. Higgins, who now heads the Salvation Army, property valued at $1,000,000 ($2,000,000).

The property, which had been sequestered by the Booth family pending outcome of the litigation which Higgins started because of Booth's disposition of Salvation Army assets as a family trust, consisted mainly of real estate, buildings, halls and shelters.

American Salvation Army property, which is administered by a vested board of five trustees, is not affected.

The court's decision brings an end to long discussion in the Salvation Army ranks, which began before Booth's death, over the question of his successor, a controversy which resulted in calling an international conference of Army leaders which finally deposed Booth and elected Higgins.

Curley Calls for Hub Survey Parley

Officials of leading industrial organizations of the city were today invited by Mayor James M. Curley to participate in a conference to consider the advisability of an industrial survey of the city.

The question of the creation of a commercial, industrial and public bureau by the city of Boston to develop a program to promote industry and commerce will also be considered at the first meeting which will be held at the mayor's office Thursday.

The committee report prepared in view of the fact that the city of Boston is an industrial city is the first of its kind.

PULLED OUT OF RIVER CHARLES

Sergeant of the Metropolitan Police Crawls Out to Them on Ladder

Sergeant Dominick O'Connor of the Metropolitan district police station at Brighton proved himself a hero early today when he saved two men and a dog who were drowning in the River Rye off Brook St. near the North Beacon at bridge Brighton.

Sergeant O'Connor had just entered the station when he received word that two men were in the river. In the ambulance with other officers he rushed to the scene. About 350 feet from shore he saw two men struggling in the water. Calling to an emergency police boat he then risked their own lives to save them.

By pulling emergency ladders from the shore to the boat he crawled on his stomach out to the men, who were struggling. He managed to get them into the boat, which was partially filled with water.

Then with his aid and the help of the police, the collie dog which was struggling for life, and got the dog into the boat.

The boat started to sink and, risking his own life, Reiter, O'Brien and the police, who were with the men were assisted in the rescue of the ladders.

After a time several pieces of life apparatus from Brighton fire stations arrived and more ladders were pressed into service.

When the boat was close to the collie dog ashore, the animal jumped out of the officer's arms and away towards Brighton center.

The men rescued were Martin O'Brien, 1000 1/2 St. James street, Montreal, and Frederic Knapp, 40, of 110 Rutledge rd, Mississauga.

They will be accompanied by a large contingent of the extradition hearing, scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Thursday, in the office of Governor Fisher. Neumann is seeking his return to Massachusetts.

THE AFTER BOSTON PLANNING FULL OF THRILLS FOR MISS HERLBY

RESEARCHING IS LABOR OF HERLBY

Secretary Sees Borough System Economic Necessity in 25 Years

They call her another Edison for work—this newly appointed secretary of the research commission on unification of metropolitan government—but Miss Elizabeth Herlby herself laughingly denies that her multiple duties are work. "It is only that I am absorbed in all the ramifications of city planning work," Miss Herlby asserted from her desk in City Hall today where she sat studying a pile of papers filled with statistics.

She gets as big a thrill out of helping plan street extensions, bridges, tunnels and such projects as another woman might out of planning a child's new spring wardrobe.

For Boston's future is very dear to Elizabeth Herlby.

"I couldn't be so close to the heart of the city government as I was through the administration of four mayors without acquiring a vision of our future greatness," she said in the same modest manner that has always characterized her. She served under the Fitzgeralds, first Currys, Faneals and three administrations.

"We are a young city yet, only 300 years old but we are growing. In 25 years at furthest we will be forced through economic reasons to adopt the plan of the metropolitan borough system," she said.

Research is Miss Herlby's hobby. She takes minutes out of everything.

"I like my recreation in comparing conditions I see while traveling about through other cities as a sort of mental stimulation, as that work is play and play is the more enjoyable when it is related to work."

In an office filled with diagrams of city planning Miss Herlby works, always with the home in the back of her mind. For 15 years she has been secretary of the City Planning Board.

"The new duties connected with the borough system advocated by Mayor Curley are a fresh opportunity for enthusiasm and service," she declares.

"Why, we cannot even turn on the lights or water in the home without that activity being related to public function, controlled by public officials," she pointed out.

"Our streets, schools, parks, everything is interwoven between the public and the home activities, and there must be cooperation and understanding between the home and city governments."

Miss Herlby has represented the city many times, both in the United States and abroad, having been a delegate to the International City and Town Planning Congress in Paris, a year ago.

In one of the most widely sought authorities on city planning in the country, and is the only woman regularly elected to the American City Planning Institute.

On the executive committee of the State Federation of City and Town Planning Boards, Massachusetts cities.

"The world is filled with so many interesting things to see that I am continually trying to catch up," she said, after explaining her system of always taking memoranda on current city conditions and statistics during her travels over thousands of miles annually.

"When one is absorbed in one's work it is not hard," she says, "to imagine nothing more tedious than not doing time away from work. It would not be so if it were not so terribly."

How did she get that way? An old-time wanted to know one day.

"Well, no one can make a success of two jobs at the same time. I do nothing but concentrate on my job," promptly replied Miss Herlby.

"Many women are trying to do

CHILD ABUSE IS A PROBLEM OF BAY STATE

Society Calls Attention to the Drop in Cases Due to Intemperance

Despite its weakness, national prohibition has reduced child abuse and neglect due to intemperance by more than half in the State according to the annual report of Theodore A. Lathrop, general secretary of Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children today.

"Surely we cannot indorse present efforts to repeal our 'Baby Vested Act,'" said Mr. Lathrop, "and so further weaken the enforcement of national prohibition. There can be no incentive to help or constructive in such action."

"Rather we would earnestly urge whole-hearted and sympathetic support of President Hoover's administration program of enforcement and study, and then, when the results are known, take such action as may be indicated."

"If, after this further trial, fair and unhampered by an administrative prohibition is proved unworkable or harmful, then public opinion would sanction the repeal and the acceptance of some other plan for better control of the liquor traffic and the evils of intemperance. But if there is to be a change, it must be for something better. There can be no compromise with the evils of the liquor traffic."

Mr. Lathrop's report called attention to the fact that in 1929 the society was active on behalf of 364 families, members of 364 families. In 1928 the case of 364 additional families and 916 additional children came in the office of the society. A total of 3068 cases were reported in 1929.

Only 61 per cent of the total number of children were permanently removed from their parents by court orders. The remainder were committed to state or city care.

"Even those committed must be discharged back to their parents when they have demonstrated their fitness and ability," Mr. Lathrop said.

CUNNING RE-LECTED

DUCKING STOOL VOLUNTEERS ARE SCARCE

Not One of 125 Girl Scout Delegates Desires to Play the Part

Volunteers to be ducked in the Frog Pond next summer for the "ducking stool" are shy, indeed.

At the midwinter meeting of the Girl Scouts, held today in the Hotel Staller, none of the 125 delegates from 39 towns in eastern Massachusetts responded when Albert E. Rogers, executive secretary of the teen-leadership committee, called for "ducking stool" volunteers.

The "ducking stool" will be one of the features of Boston's part in the teen-leadership celebration during the summer.

However, the Girl Scouts did vote to hold a big fête as their contribution to the celebration, and a committee was named to plan it.

Three points stressed at the meeting were co-operation with the teen-leadership committee, courtesy and community committee organization.

Now the U. S. Bureau of Education is taking the teen-leadership celebration during the summer months.

The Council of the Federated Churches of America will co-operate by having Puritan services by candlelight and the young people attending in Colonial costumes, he said.

Persons living in other states who are not members of the church or were educated here will be "teased" for a time. They will be sent to their districts to help bring a minimum of 10,000 visitors here during the summer months.

It is in urging through committee organization in every town.

St. H. Stevens, state director of the teen-leadership movement, Mrs. Arthur Harts announced the objectives of the celebration.

ALTHOUGH they have

A seven-game lead over the runners up in their division, the Bruins will tear after the Chicago Blackhawks as though a war-torn North bludgeoned the outcome of their conflict tonight at the Boston Garden.

The Hawks are the only team that has beaten the Bruins twice this season. In fact one-half of the defeats suffered by the holders of the Stanley Cup have been at the hands of the Windy City segregationists. It is the effect that the Hawks have their numbers well on the minds of the Rossmen, who are determined to even up the series by a victory this evening.

The Chicago team is one of the fastest and accepat in the league. The players have been

They have added strength since their last appearance at the Garden through the acquisition of Graham, Bostrum and Adams.

Bostrum is a veteran, while Adams is another product of Calgary. Furthermore, the Hawks are now under the management of Bill Tobin, who succeeded Tom

The Bruins returned yesterday from a road trip that was as battered and bruised from their 11th game as it was from their 10th with Chicago and Detroit, but minus any serious injuries.

Manager Art Ross will miss the next two games, but the rest of the team, including the Port Gage line of Bobby Orr, Phil Esposito, and Reggie Leach, is ready to go. The team's leading scorer, Phil Esposito, is back in the lineup, and the team's leading defenseman, Bobby Orr, is back in the lineup. The team's leading forward, Reggie Leach, is back in the lineup. Although they have received little credit for their effectiveness, Bill Carson, Mickle MarKay and Bill Hutton have been important cops in the Bruin machine. Due to their speed, Carson, MarKay and Hutton do not allow their position on the Bruin line to work against them. They are working which is usually the case when a third line is in action.

The Carson line is a hustling one and also a dangerous one, for Dr. Bill and Mickle are at all times liable to convert a loose puck into a goal.

Eddie Shore and Lionel Hitchman will be on the outer defense, and if the opposition is as keen as the Bruins, they will play through without any real danger.

The Hawks will have Tafto Ahjo and Cy Wentworth on the outer defense at the start of the festivities, but Bonstrom and Dutkowski will both be assigned to protect Gardiner before the end of the battle.

The Bruins and Hawks will be two of the clearest goalies in the National Hockey League, in Tiny Thompson and Gardiner. Both are young, full of fight and exceptionally hard for any team to beat,

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

RING LARSEN of Quincy was the only boxer who successfully defended his title in the Massachusetts State amateur boxing championships at the Boston Arena. Larsen won the 160-pound class by knocking out B. Kennedy of Taunton.

A thousand fans saw the show which started shortly after 8 o'clock and lasted until after 1:30 this morning.

There were 53 bouts in the eight championship classes.

Murdoch Saggens of Waltham won the heavyweight title when he knocked out Peter Rutkowski, a member of the Arena A. C. of Worcester, in one round.

The title in the light-heavyweight division went to Dick Madden of Dorchester when he disposed of Al Come of Waltham by the K. O. route in the second round of their scheduled three-round bout.

In the 112-pound class, George O'Brien took the title by knocking out George Marullo of Waltham after three hard rounds of battling.

The final bout in the 118-pound class found Edward Synneman of Taunton battling with Pat McElroy of Newton.

McElroy got the verdict after three rugged rounds.

Jimmy McGrath of Malden knocked John V. Kelly of Taunton down for a count of nine in the third round of the 125-pound final.

The latter got up only to get with a right and go down again six seconds later in the fourth.

Mike Troy of Worcester, former 147-pound champion, established his title to Charlie Kelly of Newton.

Victor Lotti of Marlboro won an unpopular verdict over Edward J. Sullivan of East Walpole in the 155-pound final.

The final bout of the evening brought out Ring Larsen of Quincy and Bob Kennedy of Taunton. Larsen was in defending his crown when he won a year ago. He won by a knockout in the third round.

Arrand Emanuel, Pacific Coast heavyweight, will be in line for several big bouts, if he can conquer "Crusader" Jim Maloney of Boston, at the Boston Garden, Friday night.

A Detroit promoter has offered Emanuel a meeting with Les Keefe Griffith, and the Californian is expected to accept it.

But, according to Emanuel, Mr. manager of his boy's ring affairs, no offers will be accepted until after the Maloney contest.

Emanuel has also received offers for bouts with Johnny Risko in Chicago and a meeting with Otto Von Port in Chicago. It is also expected that he will meet Victor Weaver in St. Louis and Les Keefe Griffith in Los Angeles.

In the ten-round semifinal, Buck Viana, unbeaten midweight, fought with Frank White of New York, and by the knockout route both are dangerous punchers who rely on early finishes in all their bouts.

Four all-round bouts and a four-rounder also have been clinched for the show.

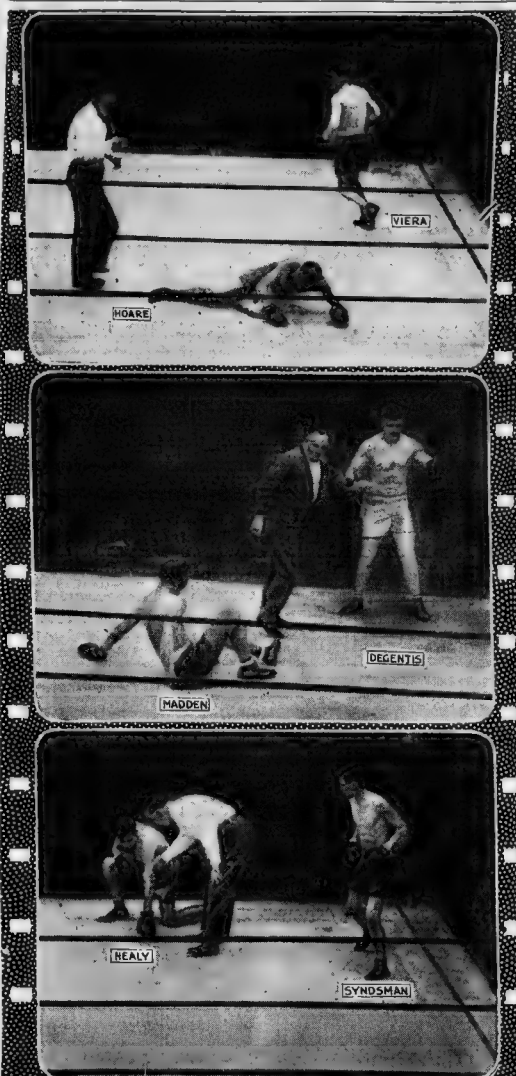

Paulino Refuses to Fight Maloney
New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—The good citizens of Miami and their friends will have to get along without seeing Mr. Paulino Escobar in action, it was decided today.

Paulino, told that he might battle Jim Maloney of Boston in one of the acts leading up to the grand fight of Phil Scott vs. Jack Ruby on February 27, stamped his name on a paper and refused to fight and clipped his golden teeth like a cat.

Then he told the promoters he would "not play second fiddle to Scott" and snapped his long black fingers in disgust.

Paulino, manager of the league, was rather dejected.

"I had my heart set on a vacation under the palm," explained Paulino.

There was plenty of action at the State Amateur title bouts at the Arena. Top photo shows Ed Ryan, Taunton, who was knocked out in the first round in the 118-lb. class trials. Middle photo shows Dick Madden, Dorchester, winner of the 175-lb. title, after he was floored by Chas. Degensia, Worcester. Madden got up and fought his way to victory. Lower photo shows Eddie Synneman, Taunton, who won the 118-lb. title after he K'O'd Henry Leary, Lynn, in one round.
